01 WELCOME

Organisation InDance International (IDI) offers a unique relationship between Dance and Technology for the development of educational projects, performances, productions and events. Emphasis is placed on the value of opportunities and employment/jobs for freelance artists, recent graduates and postgraduates of the performing arts.

Led by Artistic Director Harriet Macauley IDI is an artistic and digital community who provide a crucial intervention to professionally and artistically address the long term impact of COVID-19 restrictions on the ability of freelance artists, graduates and post graduates in digital dance with interdisciplinary practice, to innovate, perform, take risks and collaborate.

All activities designed by IDI are intertwined with multimedia and interdisciplinary site-specific performance and are offered with mobile technologies for the realisation of a series of films, documentaires and digital performance. Prevalent to the delivery of all activities is the centralization of international collaboration, coupled with marketing and promoting Artistic and Digital Talent. And predominant to all projects created is essentially the link between all aspects of Performance, Education and Multimedia Production for international promotion.

Organisation IDI, supports artists, partners and organisations as a collaborative community formed to provide a pivotal point of navigation to inspire all who practice, teach and take part in the performing arts.

IDI uses various technological equipment, online and offline, to create and promote dance with technology. Our activities are influenced largely from academic investigation and collaboration undertaken through PHD Doctorate Degrees, Masters, Philosophy, Practice-led multimedia collaboration, Practice led investigation, Interdisciplinary Practice with Technology, International residencies and so-forth. Eminent in the process of creation into performance is the understanding of dance practice with multimedia and the application of Academic knowledge to support process and delivery.

Our activities are grounded in academic, scholarly and interdisciplinary practice-led collaboration, with an aim to make visible the intrinsic nature of the choreographic process into digital performance.
